DOTHAN, ALABAMA, SATURDAY AFTERNOON, FEBRUARY 27, 1915

WIRE JEMISON BIG DAY HERE FOURTH OF JULY

Enthusiasm Aroused Over
Project to Secure Franchise in Georgia State League—Negotiations Under Way.

Cordale Will Sell.
This afternoon T. A. Ward received the following telegram from Dick Jemison, president of the Georgia State League: "Cordale club is willing to sell. Have wired them for detailed information today. Will write you fully upon receipt of same. You will have between now and (censored)—to get ready."

The publication in The Eagle yesterday of President Dick Jemison's offer to let Dothan have a franchise in the Georgia State League for $1,000, has created so much interest that a letter was addressed to Mr. Jemison yesterday afternoon, followed up by a telegram last night.

Dothan is eager for a franchise in the Georgia League, it seems, and local fans are anxiously awaiting a reply from Jemison giving more details of the offer.

From the enthusiasm that has already been aroused, there seems no reasonable doubt but what the necessary funds can be raised and a stock company organized for piloting the project.

The feature of the communication to President Jemison was that even in the event Cordale, Ga., should raise the money and decide to keep her franchise that two more towns be added to the league, one of them being Dothan. That would increase the league from a six to an eight club organization.

The fact that Dothan is a good baseball town, regardless of the European war, the ball weed and other allied misfortunes, was pointed out in the communication sent by mail.

Local fans have not yet received a reply from President Jemison, who probably has the matter under consideration, but they expect a reply by Monday.

From Spark to Flame.

Before the proposition had been industriously circulated in Dothan, there seemed to be only a tiny spark of enthusiasm, but just as soon as the fans heard of the offer, they got busy and in a few hours formed a favorable sentiment for baseball here. The tiny spark had blazed into a flame. Now all the loyal fans, both young and old, are interested and the movement seems destined to become a success. Of course, we cannot tell what the future will be, or what contingencies may arise, but the prospects for organized baseball are better in Dothan now than they have ever been.

Baker Lot Favored.

The majority of the fans seem to favor the Coon Baker lot near the ice factory, in preference over the fair grounds for a baseball diamond. This of course is all talk, and the main object now is to catch the franchise as the diamond question can be worked out later. When the promoters put their heads together on this question, it can be solved satisfactorily.

Off With Cotton.

Galveston, Tex., Feb. 26.—Steamers with cargoes of cotton and cotton products valued at $1,000,000 cleared from Galveston today for European ports.

Fair Association Planning For Horse Racing and Aeroplane Flights at the Fair Grounds.—Big Attendance Expected.

Plans are already being considered by the Southeast Alabama Fair Association to make the fourth of July in Dothan a day to be long remembered. The signing of the Declaration of Independence will be celebrated with the carrying out of an interesting program at the fair grounds.

The exercises will be started in the morning, the first half of the day to be devoted to field events, such as running races between boys and other attractions of an athletic nature. The program in the afternoon will include horse racing and an aeroplane flight. Between now and July 4th other interesting features will no doubt be arranged.

Like Amusements, Sure.

The people of Dothan and for that matter this entire section including neighboring towns, are particularly fond of amusement and generally are liberal in their patronage of such. Consequently a good program is arranged for July 4th, the chances for a record attendance are good.

The details for the day of events have not been worked out yet but assistance is given from Secretary Thomas' office that the will be in due time.

It may be that something unique, different from the general run of attractions, may be devised to add additional interest to the occasion. One of the plans of the association will be it is believed, to have a program of great variety so that all will be pleased.

Trainmaster Black Makes Statement

SAYS SACKS OF LITERATURE WERE BROUGHT TO DOTHAN AND DELIVERED TO PROPER PARTIES.

Special Train to Dothan for Crop Diversification Specialists Shows Road to Liberal in Its Policies.

Following is a letter from Trainmaster Black, with reference to some comment about the Coast Line road not handling free, some pamphlets and books from the Crop Diversification Campaign people, who were in Dothan Thursday. The letter puts a different phase on the matter, and tends to show that the Coast Line has shown that it was co-operating with the movement, because it placed a special train at the disposal of these people, which was taken advantage of, reaching Dothan much earlier than if they had waited for the regular train.

Mr. Black says:
Editor Dothan Eagle:
Dothan, Ala.

Dear Sir:
Will you allow me space to say a few words in answer to some criticisms in regard to the position taken by the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company relative to handling literature for House county crop campaign?

First, it was stated that Dr. Chamberlain stated in his address at the court house Thursday night that the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Co. was the only road in the whole United States, road in which they had traveled over which they had refused to aid

MRS. BUFFAM GETS NEW TRIAL ON MURDER CHARGE

Auburn, N. Y., Feb. 26.—After awaiting death in Auburn prison for nearly a year, Mrs. Cynthia Buffam of the Little Valley has won her appeal for a new trial and is back in Cattaraugus county jail. She was accused of attempting to slay her entire family by poison to clear the way for her lover, Ernest Frabin, the 24-year-old son of her husband. Her husband, W. L. Frabin, a son of 12, died from the arsenic, and the other children were made desperately ill. The prosecution alleged that Mrs. Buffam had confessed to the crime.

Belgium People Thank Americans For Aid

London, Feb. 26.—Herbert C. Hoover, chairman of the American Relief Committee, has received a telegram from Belgium asking him to express the thanks of that country to the United States for assistance in Belgium's extremity. The message from the provincial committee at Liege reads:

Representatives of 900,000 Belgians in the province of Liege who have met together on the anniversary of the birthday of George Washington send their expressions of their most lively gratitude for the sympathy and admirable generosity which you and members of relief committee for Belgium have shown them. I beg you to communicate this expression for them to President Wilson and to send the heartfelt thanks of little Belgium to Great America.

Expects Law Against Liqueur Literature

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 26.—Judge Samuel D. Weasley, who returned today from Washington, expressed the opinion that Congress will enact a law prohibiting the sending of liquor literature into dry territory. He went to Washington with the special committee sent by the legislature to memorialize Congress, the President of the United States and the Postmaster General on the subject. He said that the commission from Alabama was cordially received and that bills have already been prepared and one introduced in the House already and Senator Bankhead will attend to the one in the Senate. He says there is but little doubt but that literature about liquor and beer will be kept out of Alabama, and that the movement

Seton, Boy Scout Head, Ousted Because of English Birth

New York, Feb. 26.—Was Ernest Thompson Seton, former Chief Scout of the Boy Scouts of America, ousted because he is a British subject? That is the question that is receiving various answers in the Scout's London papers. Mr. Seton is abroad and will become a naturalized American when he returns, it is said. Meanwhile the office of Chief Scout is vacant. Mr. Seton was not re-elected at the annual meeting recently. Last fall, Mrs. Seton, a Canadian, became interested in suffrage work and it was then discovered that her husband was a British subject.

SUMMARY OF WAR STATUS

Two additions to the long list of disasters at sea during the war were made known today. The French destroyer Immer struck a mine in the Adriatic and was driven down with the probable loss of 38 lives. The Swedish merchantman Stavron is reported sunk by a mine or torpedo in the North Sea, but was able to reach a Dutch port.

From Constantinople, it is announced a victory by the Turkish over Russian forces in the Transcaucasus. It is said that after a battle of several days the Russians were put to flight, having suffered heavy losses.

So far as official statements from London, Paris and Berlin show, there have been no important changes on the battlefields of the west or the east.

In London the opinion is growing that the Germans are soon to make a general attack in France, remaining on the defensive in Poland. Petrograd on the other hand, fully expects another German drive at Warsaw, this time from the north.

Three warships of the Anglo-French fleet which bombarded the Dardanelles are said by Turkish authorities to have been damaged. The Chrysanthemum was captured in the Dardanelles by the Germans but has not been recovered from Petrograd. The latest report of the Russian general staff speaks of a concentration of German efforts in that direction. Considerable successes for the Russians are claimed in actions along the Warsaw front and in Galicia.

The correspondent of a Cologne newspaper reports that the Russians have suffered another reverse in Bukovina, and that their final opposition there has been shattered, the province being cleared of the invaders.

Fighting between Austria and Montenegro, almost at a standstill during the mid-winter months, has been resumed. A dispatch from Belgrade says that Austrian forces, which attacked a Montenegrin column in the Austrian province, was repulsed after a violent fight.

Germany is framing a reply to the American note concerning food supplies for civilians in Belgium, and that German volunteers have been sent

STATE WORKERS WILL BE PAID

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 26.—Salaries of school teachers, of State officials and of other employees of the State will be paid during the next few weeks, according to a statement issued yesterday by State Treasurer W. L. Lancaster. Warrants for these salaries will be paid in the order presented and all warrants will be honored as long as there are funds in the treasury. Recently a large amount of money has been deposited in the treasury by the Department of Insurance and more funds will be turned in this week.

Governor Henderson recently requested that salary warrants be left unpaid by the State Treasurer until certain obligations in New York had been met. Those obligations have been paid and for a time at least the State will pay the salaries of the officials.

Commencing March 1, on account of funds deposited and promised by the Insurance and Convict Departments, the State Treasurer will pay school teachers, old soldiers, convict supply bills and such other emergency warrants as the condition of the treasury will allow from day to day in the order presented," said Treasurer Lancaster yesterday.

Warrants to the school teachers for their January salary were yesterday sent out by the Department of Education. The total amount of salary due the teachers for January amounts to approximately $250,000.

ALL TRANSATLANTIC LINERS ARE ORDERED TO REMAIN IN PORTS

Successful Operations of German Submarine Bring Forth This Mandate from the Naval Authorities.

London, Feb. 26.—Successful operations of German submarines in British waters have resulted in the issuance of secret orders for all transatlantic liners to remain in port until further notice, according to reliable information secured here today. This news caused a sensation in maritime circles when it became known.

Officials of the steamship lines refused to comment on the order, but the admiralty maintained its cautious silence. Reports are in circulation that the British naval authorities have secured information that a fleet of submarines has succeeded in reaching the Irish sea and is lying in wait for the big liners.

Wording revocation of the order, no American can leave for the United States from English ports. Those wishing to return to America can do so only by going to France, and if they do this they risk their lives in the English channel.

London, Feb. 26.—Rates of insurance against Holland's participation in the war took a sudden jump today. This was due to a semi-official report that the Dutch government is planning to go to war with Germany, and that the Germans are making preparations for an aggressive offensive against Holland as soon as it joins the Allies.

Dispatches from Amsterdam received here today state that the German troops were passing through Aix-La-Chapelle, trying to get to the Netherlands now guarding the border between Belgium and Holland, and that the German army was building bridges over the Antwerp and Scheldt rivers, which heavy artillery was transported for action against Dutch.

Announcement was made that no German troops had crossed the Dutch border, thus saving a panic.

TWO IN JAIL AT ABBEVILLE

Cap Lingo and Ernest Munk are charged with breaking into the Headland Depot for Whiskey.

The Abbeville News this week says: "Cap Lingo and Ernest Munk, while men, have been arrested by Sheriff Hardwick, now in jail charged with breaking into the Headland depot a few nights ago."

The Headland Standard says: "We'll Go The Light."

"Just how far men will go to get whiskey is hard to figure out. They will even risk their lives or their liberty, sometimes, to possess themselves of this self-same fluid."

"Since the passage of the late liquor laws there have been several seizures of whiskey in the depot shipped to parties just before the law went into effect. The real owners couldn't get it because the amount exceeded the authority of the agent to deliver."

"Monday night a plan was concocted to get the place while the agent wasn't there. But the eagle eyes of Dorsey and Davis were upon the boys. With saw and sledge they repaired to the depot; and when all was stillness—when all nature seemed to have departed for dreamland—they tore a plank from the depot platform and quietly crept under. Just then it happened that a figure from the shadows stealthily approached and turned on the light from a hall-way. And then came the deep breathing of the still men was that of death. The boys came out and the house stayed in."

Results—a $500 fine, a $200 bond, an inmate of the county jail and a fugitive from his home and justice.

"The Standard calls no names. It is enough that our own people know them. None of them are very bad and some of them are not bad at all; but they all just allowed the crime for whiskey to get the better of them and they must now pay the penalty. The Standard, in whose flesh the serpent has long since buried its fangs, would plead with them to go and sin no more."

Two Men Killed.

Madisonville, Ky., Feb. 26.—Demetrius Woodruff, proprietor of a store at Madisonville, was here, and his clerk, Oliver Hensley, were found dead from bullet wounds today. Hensley's body was lying inside the store and that of Woodruff just outside. Hensley had been sprinkled about the building, apparently to kill thousands.

A jump today. This was due to a semi-official report that the Dutch government is planning to go to war with Germany, and that the Germans are making preparations for an aggressive offensive against Holland as soon as it joins the Allies.

Dispatches from Amsterdam received here today state that the German troops were passing through Aix-La-Chapelle, trying to get to the Netherlands now guarding the border between Belgium and Holland, and that the German army was building bridges over the Antwerp and Scheldt rivers, which heavy artillery was transported for action against Dutch.

The Vault in the Treasurer's Office.

Referring to the bill providing an appropriation for building a new vault in the state treasurer's office, the Selma Journal says:

"Honorable Sorrell, member of the house, said he could not see the good sense in spending ten thousand dollars to build a vault at Montgomery to hold a deficit. May be some sense in that. If we are a million dollars behind the hounds what do we want even with an iron safe? Get rid of the deficit and then build the vault."

Finding the state treasury empty and the governor appealing to the legislative body for a bond issue of a million and a half or two million dollars to get money to run the state government, the members of the legislature were in no mood to pass any bill, however meritorious, that meant an appropriation of money.

The measure in question is a meritorious one, and it should, and will, be viewed from a purely business standpoint up on the return of the members to Montgomery after the recess, when a vote shall have been found out of the present financial troubles as it will be, by the committee sitting during recess having this question in hand.

At present the so-called vault in the state treasurer's office is a scandal to the state. It would be in fact, a serious reflection upon the business ability and sense of any business house in Montgomery. The old safe in the vault has been useless for years; the lock having refused to work. The many valuable books and papers including bonds of this state and others held in trust, valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars are laying loosely in the vault, many of the papers being covered with dust of years, and in such condition as to be a reflection upon the business methods of the state.

The state treasury office needs a new vault, and will get it up on the re-assembling of the legislature.—Montgomery Journal.

If Honorable Sorrell would take the trouble to go into the State Treasurer's office and make an inspection, he would see that there are other things to be kept in that vault besides a "deficit."

Many foreign corporations doing business in Alabama, such as insurance companies, have to put up negotiable collateral, and there are millions of dollars worth of this sort of securities deposited with the State Treasurer. And there isn't a cross roads bank in Alabama that hasn't a better vault. Just why the State of Alabama has allowed such a condition to exist so long is more than a business man can understand. Suppose you had to deposit several hundred thousand dollars worth of negotiable securities with a concern in order to do certain kinds of business, and those securities were piled back in an insecure place, where they might easily be burned or stolen? That is what is being done in Alabama.

The money spent for a good vault should not be a bad investment. Money isn't the only thing that should be taken care of and protected from burglars and fire.

Despite not the little things, it takes only one little letter to make an object not worthy note worthy.

Mr. Taft is saying a president should have but one term. One term he means.

Doing Bunch.

The Alabama Courier is one of those newspapers that when it gets mad it is mad all over and we judge from its last issue that it is having one of its worst spells of madness.

It goes after the legislature without gloves.

In denouncing the legislature it assures us that it "has bled the state to the tune of fifty thousand dollars," and then it proceeds to tell us all that Alabama has got for its money, pointing out the legislature's many sins of omission and commission.

First. It passed a "few drastic prohibition bills," which means the closing of the open saloons, and which is a scandalous thing to do, "because," as Dr. Clarence Wilson would say "they help the homes, schools and churches in building up character and raising up honest, sober and prosperous citizens."

Second. It assures us the legislature also passed "a law replacing the blue-back speller in rural schools," which would have been another great crime if it had done so, but some of the lawless clerks in the legislature failed to make record that such a bill had become a law, and on behalf of the legislature we want to thank the Courier for calling attention to the negligence and oversight of the clerks in so important a measure.

Third. Members return to their homes with "no record of anything done for the relief of the State, save they have re-enacted the laws cutting off $500,000 of revenues from the state treasury," referring to the state-wide prohibition bills. This is particularly interesting information. That $500,000 might dwindle to $80,000 if the records of the treasury department were examined; but it is possible that the money has been collected and not turned over to the state treasury. It is a matter that might be investigated. The Courier should not make a statement it did not know to be true, and its charge is somewhat sensational.

Fourth. It "has invaded the right of the press, has seen fit to fix the rate a newspaper may charge for political advertising, a rate that many of the papers could not stand." Another piece of important information for which we want to thank the Courier. The clerks, or other employees of the legislature whose duty it is to keep record of the bills passed by that body, have been amiss in their duties again. They have failed to record the passage of such a law.

And then the Courier adds with vein it not disgust. "Oh, this has been a doing bunch."

It would really seem so, Montgomery Journal.

How many eggs should a hen lay? queries a farm journal. Well, if she is extra fine stock and belongs to the town poultry fancier and eggs are cheap she should lay about six during the season. But if eggs are 40 cents a dozen she had better lay more than one and maybe not at all. Trust no this answer is satisfactory, will it to remain.

"Oh, It's Been a"

The backdoor editor of the Anniston Star and Hot Blast is weeping because the fashion of one of The Dothan Eagle says the V-neck shirt waists worn by the girls will soon be a thing of the past. He says he won't go to Dothan if they quit wearing the V-neck waists. Poor old Dothan!—Selma Journal.

A Florida legislator intends to introduce a bill looking to the destruction of the buzzard, claiming that he is a carrier of hog cholera as well as a scavenger. This may be true, but we may know how to prevent hog cholera, and it is quite probable that we have not yet reached the point where we can do without the buzzard as a scavenger. Better let him alone awhile longer.—Dothan Eagle.

We had the buzzard as a most useful scavenger all these years and now comes the modern scientists who tell us that he is a disease-carrier. Perhaps so, but we demand the proof, like they got on the mosquito.—Montgomery Times.

AN INTERESTING SIDE-LIGHT ON TIRE ADJUSTMENTS.

The bed-rock basis for judging tire mileage service is in the adjusting department, according to A. D. Lyman, chief adjuster for Diamond Tires, Akron, Ohio.

"Getting right down to brass tacks on tire service means getting the facts on how tires have performed during any certain period," says Mr. Lyman.

"The tires which show immensely increased sales and greatly reduced adjustments certainly are tires the majority of motorists are looking for."

"Diamond Tires were remarkable in 1914 because of the falling on in adjustments. And at the same time the Diamond sales jumped enormously. These things mean that motorists found Diamonds gave them the long, uninterrupted service they wanted for their money."

"Ideal tire service is that which has no interruption of adjustments or replacements—a service which is continuous from the day of purchase to the scrap pile, and which includes long mileage. This is the kind of service Diamonds have been rendering and still are rendering, and the increases in sales merely indicate that more and more motorists are learning of these wonderful Diamond performances."

"The case of the Diamond retailer who reported sales of 4,000 tires with only two adjustments is typical of present day Diamond deeds. Decreased adjustments show the increased value Diamond Tires have for the man at the wheel."

SUNDAY

FROM OUR VIEW.

"So no victory has been gained at Premoval."

"Well, how could success there be pronounced?"

PERQUISITE FOR HIS HONOR.

Mrs. Justad—Did the minister lose you when you were married?

Mrs. Fred—No, but the judge kissed me when I got my divorce.

THE PRECISE LOCALITY.

"When you joined in the fight, I suppose you were shot in the very corner."

"No, in the left leg."

MIGHT BE WORSE.

"One of your constituents complain that you are too willing to take orders from almost anybody."

"Take orders, do I?" mused Senator Sorghum. "Anyhow, I'm not accused of being a boss."

CHEAP.

Mrs. Wynn—I bought a nickel coat for my baby.

Mrs. Green—My baby! It can't be my baby for it's coming to Boston Evening Transcript.

YOU KNOW HIM.

Gabe—That fellow Brown is a lary case, isn't he?

Steve—He isn't lazy. He has spring fever all year round.

NEEDS THEM.

"That Mrs. Grandmug is a two-faced creature."

"Well, she does enough talking to keep six ordinary faces busy."

DEFINING BRAVERY.

Willie—Paw, what is bravery?

Paw—Bravery is letting that make a man look like one of his legs when he wants to get out.

APPRECIATION.

"You say that man stops work?"

"Beyond a doubt. I have seen him stand around and admire at by the hour."

NOT MUCH.

"They have a six months' rainy season in Patagonia."

"Hum! Not much chance of getting a boned umbrella back."

ANNOUNCEMENT

I announce the arrival of the new Spring woollens for making men's fine suits and trousers. In this selection you will find many new and exclusive weaves and patterns—good, you will find in no other shop in this section. And the price—fantastic! And perfect workmanship that have made

Inspecting British Emergency Hut

BRITISH EMERGENCY HUT INSPECTION.

Now that the first mad rush of war is over and the belligerent countries have settled down to a long campaign, the various war departments are beginning to plan for the comforts of the troops as well as their actual necessities. The photograph shows war office heads inspecting a new collapsible hut which has been invented for the use of the Allies in Flanders and France. Lightness and ease in transporting it and warmth, are the chief assets of this hut.

Whatever.

Whatever turns the path may take to left or right,
I think it follows
the tracking of a winter hand,
through dark and day,
Across the hills, and in the shadow
of hollows.

Only know that every day
brings good above
My poor deserving;
Only feel that on the road of life true love
Is leading me along and never overturning.

Whatever gifts the hours bestow
or great or small
I would not measure
worth a certain price in pain—
but take them all
And use them all with simple,
heart-felt pleasure.

The Seeing Eye.

By Constance Clarke.
One saw a homely cottage small
Against a heeling hill
Some straggling trees that drop ped their leaves
Upon the low door sill,
The loneliness of all outdoors,
The deep, and dark, and still.

The other glimpsed a dying fire
Upon a hearthstone wide,
A twinkling flame of candle light.

That fitfully died
A woman in a low armchair,
A cradle by her side.

One was a stranger doomed to room,
The other called the hovel home.

Temperance

(Conducted by the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.)

PEOPLE TO BE TRUSTED.

The reason why governments have not done and are not doing their duty toward the suppression of alcohol is,
in the last analysis, says Congressman Hobson, "based on the absence of public opinion on the part of the masses as to the true nature of alcohol and the appalling results that come from its use." And Dr. T. B. Crothers, the noted expert on alcoholism, declares that "if the actual effects of alcohol were known by the people, prohibiting its use would follow as a natural and reasonable demand." To bring to the people knowledge concerning the nature of alcohol and its effects upon the individual, the family, the state, is the purpose of the organized campaign of education now being carried on throughout the land from remote countryside to halls of congress. Given the facts, the intelligent people of this nation will soon settle the liquor question and settle it right. Bring the truth to the masses!

Tied Down.

"I think," said the head of the firm,
"I'll send you to New York to see la-gram brothers about renewing that loan. I intended to go myself, but you see attend to it just as well."

"I'm sorry, sir, but I can't go just now."

"Can't go? Why not?"
"We've lost our maid and if I go away there won't be anybody left to look my wife's waist."

Might Come in Handy.

"I had a happy thought a moment
ago," said the conceited young man who had lingered along until the clock had almost got through striking the big numbers.

"Keep it," replied the beautiful girl,
after she had concealed a yawn. "I think you will need it in a moment. I just heard father sneeze in the hall stairs."

Heroic.

"Yes, I once saved a girl from drowning."

"How was that?"

"She was out rowing with a fellow who began to rock the boat."

"Yes?"

"I yelled to her to jump out and wade ashore before they got where the water was any deeper."

His Profession.

"Is he in business or in one of the professions?"

"He is a professional man."

"What does he profess?"

"The profession that he would be able to get along somehow even if his wife didn't have money."

Keep This Handy.

The London Chronicle says that one may be putting a clove in one's mouth at night sleep without snoring. This should be remembered by the man who goes home at night with a clove in his mouth and is called to account for it by his wife.

NEVER KNOWN TO FAIL

The melancholy days are here,
We feel with trepidation,
When 'round us fallen leaves do lie
And folks about vacation.

CAME TO CITY FOR MEAL.

A big bird, variously asserted to be a bald-headed American eagle or an extraordinarily large duck hawk, swooped down over lower Manhattan
the other day, perched on a fat pigeon in the air near the post office, and then carried his quarry to the gargoyles that jut out over Broadway from a corner of the twenty-seventh story of the Woolworth building.
Here, within easy sound of the roar and clamor of the street, the big bird settled down contentedly for a couple of hours while he made a leisurely meal. Occupants of nearby office buildings were the first to spot
the unusual visitor and soon applauds were trained upon him from dozens of windows. Photographers climbed around the corner of the building.

YEAR OF GEM PRODUCTION

Output of the United States Has Been Satisfactory in a Great Variety of Ways.

The gem industry of the United States in 1913 was marked by a fairly large output of sapphires, a real advance in the work of testing the Arkansas diamond field, and a greater activity in the Nevada opal field.
There was, however, a decrease in the production of most of the other gems mined. The total production was valued at $319,451, according to D. R. Sargent of the United States geological survey. The output of sapphire in Montana was the largest ever reported to the survey, and the value is estimated at $238,635, or over $12,000 more than in 1912. The sapphire consisted of both blue and varicolored gems and calls for mechanical purposes. In Arkansas one diamond-washing plant was in operation about three months and recovered several hundred diamonds,
and the construction of another
plant was practically completed.
Many new claims were located in the Nevada opal field, the development of which, along with those previously opened, resulted in a fairly large output of beautiful gems.

The imports of precious stones for 1913 were valued at $15,131,998 and were the largest in the history of the industry.

A REAL ONE

"Is he a good doctor?"
"Now, he's a quack."

ROUMANIA'S NEW KING.

King Ferdinand of Roumania, succeeding the late King Charles was in 1899 declared prince of Rou-mania and heir apparent to the throne. Physically he has never been very robust, and the threat of tuberculosis has hung over him for years.
He is said to have little taste for soldiering, his mind leaning rather toward science, and his education has been along this line. He is described as shy, reserved and unbending. He married the Princess Marie, daughter of the duke of Edinburgh, a brother of King Edward VII of England.

IMMENSE SUGAR PURCHASE.

The British government has purchased 300,000 tons of raw sugar at about $5.33 per ton, the transaction involving an outlay of about $1,597,000.
The sugar has been purchased in Demerara, Java, Mauritius and other places. This is by far the largest purchase of sugar which has ever been made. The sugar is to be sold virtually at cost price to the refiners, who by arrangement with the government have agreed to sell the commodity when refined to the dealer at a fixed price based upon the cost of the article, plus a fair profit.

DRIVING OUT FARM HORSE.

A machine designed to replace horses entirely on small farms has been developed, says the Popular Mechanics Magazine. Driven on the same principle as standard "water-pillar" tractors, it is intended to serve more in the sense of a mechanical horse, drawing all ordinary farm implements and working where-ever it is possible for horses to work.
Its motive power is supplied by an internal-combustion engine.

THE BEST NEUTRALITY.

The best assurance of neutrality that a nation can give is to develop an abundance of business of its own,
and then manifest a willingness to give it undivided attention.—Washington Post.

TRAIN MASTER BLACK
MAKES STATEMENT

them in any manner. I was sitting within a few feet of Dr.
Chamberlain when he referred to this matter, and I certainly did not hear him express himself in the manner stated, and I am told by a great many others who heard this lecture that they did not hear him make this statement, but he did say, in substance, that for some reason the Atlantic Coast Line and the Central of Georgia had not seen fit to handle this literature free of charge. As to why the Atlantic Coast Line and the Central of Georgia will not handle this literature is not left for me to say,
but I do know that the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company has a contract with the Southern Express Company, and if we handle free of charge such literature or anything else that we violate our contract, and in order to handle such matters as they should be handled, we first have to get authority or permission, the same as an individual would do.

As to handling this literature
to other points, yes, we did handle some of it until it began to come in such quantities that we were compelled to handle with headquarters for authority in order not to violate our contract with the Southern Express Company.

Attention is called to the fact that the writer was on Train No.
14 Wednesday night, and his attention called to three large sacks of literature, having been put in the colored car, at Montgomery,
and no one on the train to claim
it. I took charge of this literature, had it brought to Dothan, placed in a safe place, and told Mr. J. S. Lisenby that night that it would be delivered to the committee, or any one authorized to get it, and it was delivered the following morning, to Mr. Can-ady, or upon his request.

The reference made to Chief Dispatcher Black, in handling for a special train direct with headquarters does him an injustice, leaving the impression that he is being used as a tool to fight local officials, and that he has ignored his superior officers, which was not the case at all.

This matter was handled

through the Superintendent's office at Montgomery, direct with our Savannah office, and Chief Dispatcher Black states that he informed those making inquiries,
that the matter was being handled by the Superintendent's office at Montgomery, with our Savannah office.

Special trains are authorized only by our head offices, and the fact that our people run this train into Dothan at a cost of a good many dollars, seems to me, as conclusive evidence that the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company wants to co-operate in every way consistent for the benefit of this and other cities, towns, counties, through which it traverses, and I feel sure that if the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Co.
could have consistently handled
this literature without first looking into the matter that they certainly would have done so.

This is my twenty-second year
of service with this and the old Plant System railroad, and I can truthfully say that I have never known these companies to act arbitrarily or contrary to the public, but have always tried to work for the interest of all concerned through the territory in which it traversed.

Yours truly,
M. D. BLACK,
Acting Train Master.

YOUR FRECKLES

Need Attention in February and March or Face May Stay Covered.

Now is the time to take special care of the complexion if you wish to look well the rest of the year. The February and March winds have a strong tendency to bring out freckles that may stay all summer unless removed. Now is the time to use othine—double strength.

This prescription for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful that it is sold by druggists under guarantee to refund the money if it fails. Get an ounce of othine—double strength, and even a few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the smaller freckles even vanishing entirely.
